Chairman of the Board

W. D. "Bill" Eason does not give up easily. He was among the original group of owners of the Indiana Pacers, called Indiana Professional Sports, Inc., and when the Pacers ran into financial difficulties two winters ago, he was among the first to step forward with a plan to keep the Pacers in Indianapolis. At times, the short range goal seemed just to survive another season, but Bill always had the NBA in his long range plans. "When I came to Indiana from Texas, one of the first things that I realized was that basketball was very important to the people here," says the likeable Chairman, Chief Executive Officer and founder of Bio-Dynamics. "I feel that professional basketball belongs in Indiana, and Indiana should be an intregal part of professional basketball." Now, with the arrival of the NBA, Indianapolis is assured of its rightful place in that world of professional basketball.

Mr. Eason graduated from Butler University with a Chemistry Degree before founding Bio-Dynamics, a laboratory firm here in Indianapolis.

He spent four years in the Air Force in World War II and served in the European operation as a radio operator.

Mr. Eason has received several honors during his career including a Fellowship Award from the American Association for the Advancement of Science in 1968, plus Honorary Doctor of Science Degrees from both Butler University and Marian College in 1975.

He and his wife, Hazel, have two children and three grandchildren.

INDIANA PACERS HISTORY

On February 2, 1967 a franchise in the newly formed American Basketball Association was offered to a group of Indiana businessmen.

Armed with the results of two feasibility studies conducted by the city that concluded the Indianapolis area could support professional basketball, the group accepted the franchise and pro basketball was "back home again in Indiana."

Indiana Professional Sports, Inc. was formed to own and operate the new franchise, and on June 16, 1967 the team became known as the Indiana Pacers because the organization intended to "set the pace" in professional basketball.

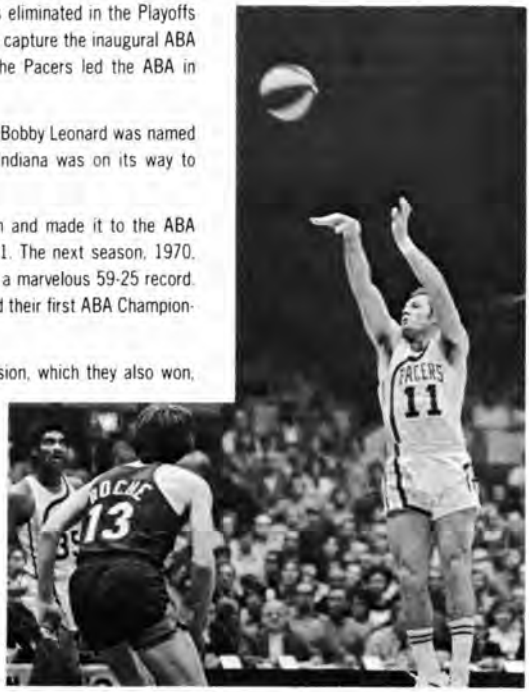
Mike Storen was named the first General Manager, and Larry Staverman, an Assistant at Notre Dame, was chosen as the first coach of the Pacers.

The Pacers very first draft pick was Jimmy Walker from Providence College, while Roger Brown was the initial player ever signed by the club. Assisted by Bobby Leonard and Clyde Lovellette, Coach Staverman held tryouts the week of June 19, 1967. During the camp, they looked at over 50 prospects and had over 15,000 fans view the evening workouts that were open to the public.

The Pacers played their first game against the Kentucky Colonels on October 14, 1967 and defeated the Colonels 117-95 in front of a packed house in Fairgrounds Coliseum. In fact, the Pacers had to turn away hundreds of people because the Coliseum was filled past capacity. Indiana finished the season with a 38-40 record and was eliminated in the Playoffs by Pittsburgh in 3 straight. Pittsburgh went on to capture the inaugural ABA championship. Despite the below .500 record, the Pacers led the ABA in attendance averaging almost 5,000 per game.

The 1969 season was only 9 games old, when Bobby Leonard was named to replace Staverman as coach of the Pacers. Indiana was on its way to the top.

That season Indiana won the Eastern Division and made it to the ABA Championship Finals before losing to Oakland 4-1. The next season, 1970, Indiana ran away from its competition by posting a marvelous 59-25 record. They easily won the Eastern Division, and captured their first ABA Championship by beating Los Angeles 4-2.



1971 saw Indiana moved to the Western Division, which they also won, marking the third straight year Coach Leonard had led the Pacers to a division title. However, they were eliminated from the playoffs by eventual champion Utah in a thrilling 7 game series.

1972 was the beginning of a very rewarding period for the Pacers. In both 1972 and 1973 Indiana finished second in the Western Division, but regrouped in the playoffs to win the Championship. In '72 they ousted the Utah Stars in a fantastic 7 game semi-final upsetting the Stars in the 7th game in Utah. Indiana captured its second ABA Crown by beating the New York Nets 4-2. In '73 the Pacers breezed past Denver and Utah into the Championship Finals against Kentucky. Indiana beat the Colonels for the title by winning the 7th game in Louisville in a series that saw the home team win only two of the seven games.

1973 was the Pacers third Championship in 4 years, and was the 4th time in Bobby Leonard's 5 years as coach, that the Pacers had made it to the Championship Finals.

1974 saw a veteran Pacer squad struggle through the season, but close with a rush to grasp second place from San Antonio. In the playoff they beat the Spurs in 7 games, but were eliminated by Utah. In the off-season, the Pacers traded away 30 years of playing experience and began to rebuild for the future.

1975 marked the beginning of another era for the Pacers. First, they moved into beautiful, downtown Market Square Arena with its 17,000 seats. Also, in mid season the Pacers encountered severe financial difficulties and were up for sale. A 10 man group headed by W. D. Eason and Tom Binford formed Arena Sports, Inc. and purchased the club. The new group of owners was very concerned with keeping the Pacers in Indiana, continuing the winning tradition and had a long range goal of seeing the Pacers play in the National Basketball Association. They succeeded on all counts.

The young rebuilt team of 1975 was the Cinderella team of pro basketball. They upset both San Antonio and Denver, the winningest team in pro ball, to advance to the ABA Finals! Their magic finally ran out as they lost 4-1 to Kentucky. But during the playoffs "Pacer Pride" was rejuvenated and sell out crowds filled the Arena as the Pacers set all kinds of league attendance records.

In 1975 the Pacers ninth and final ABA campaign, the club finished the regular season in fifth place with a 39-45 record—the first sub .500 season since the inaugural in 1967-68. However, the Pacers made the playoffs for the ninth straight season. In these playoffs, Indiana lost to the defending champion Kentucky Colonels 1-2, the deciding game being a last second loss in Louisville.

The record speaks for itself. Nine years with a regular season record of 427-317, which is a winning percentage of .574. Five ABA finals which resulted in 3 ABA Championship Banners. The Indiana Pacers are the only 3 time champions and the only team to ever win back-to-back titles.

It's a winning tradition. A tradition of which we are very proud.

1976-77 will begin yet another new era. The chance to compete against all the teams in professional basketball is the best 10th birthday present we could receive. 1976-77 promises to be the most exciting year in the history of the Indiana Pacers.

Bobby Leonard
Vice President,
General Manager & Coach

Bob Leonard is Mr. Indiana Pacer (in case you could not tell by his numerous titles). Looking at his record it is not hard to tell why.

In mid-November of 1968, the Indiana Pacers decided a coaching change was necessary. Bob Leonard was the man they wanted, but he was in no rush to get back into pro coaching. He had been out of pro ball for four years and had established himself in the local business community.

But, he decided to give it another chance, at least for the rest of the season. Well, Bobby Leonard is beginning his ninth year as coach of the Pacers, with three ABA Championships and three division titles to his credit. In addition to the three Championships, "Slick" has taken the Pacers to the ABA Finals on two other occasions. That adds up to five out of eight years in the Championship series.

In the past, Bob has been Coach and Director of Player Personnel. Now, he is wearing the hats of Vice President of Indiana Pacers, L.P., and General Manager of the ballclub. As you might guess, he keeps quite busy.

Called the "best seventh game coach in the business" by his rival ABA coaches, Bob has always been a fierce competitor. He got his start at Terre Haute Gerstmeyer under Howard Sharpe, and then went on to an All-American career at Indiana University. He led Branch McCracken's Hoosiers to the 1953 National Title.

Bobby is now beginning his 18th season in pro basketball—7 as a player and the 11th as a coach. His record speaks for itself.

You might say basketball is pretty important to the Leonards, as Bob's wife, Nancy, is the Pacers' Assistant General Manager and runs the daily operations of the Pacer office. Bob and Nancy still find the time to raise five children.

Don Buse

10 DON BUSE

Position: Guard
Height: 6-4
Weight: 195
Born: August 10, 1950, Huntingburg, Indiana
High School: Holland (Indiana)
College: Evansville University '72
Residence: Indianapolis
How Acquired: Acquired rights from Virginia Squires in 1972
Pro Experience: 4 years

Don Buse came into his own in 1975-76. Always known as an outstanding defensive player and ball handler, Don proved last season that he is a complete player.

Not only did he quarterback the Pacer offense, he set the all time ABA single season records for most assists (689) and steals (346), and still found the time to average 12.5 points per game.

The crowning touch for 1975-76 came when Don was named to the All-ABA second team-an honor which rated him among the top four guards in the entire ABA.

At 6'4" and 195 pounds, Don is a very strong guard. He averages almost 4 rebounds per ballgame, and always draws the toughest defensive assignment. His long reach and ghost-like quick hands have earned him the nickname "Boo." Opposing NBA guards will soon find out why many ABA coaches have called him the best defensive guard in the game.

Durability is another Don Buse trademark. He played in all 84 games for the Pacers in 1975-76, for a season total of 3380 minutes. That averages out to a whopping 40.2 minutes per game average. That is durability, especially when you play both ends of the court the way Don does.

Don is a bachelor who enjoys hunting and fishing. He spends his summer relaxing, drinking a little beer and playing a whole lot of softball.

In 1976-77 look for Boo to be a big surprise in the NBA. Not many people know him now, but they soon will.

Weight: 220
Born: March 28, 1952, Brooklyn, N.Y.
High School: Powell Memorial Academy, N.Y.
College: Maryland '74
Residence: Washington, D.C.
How Acquired: Purchased draft rights from Denver in 1974
Pro Experience: 2 Years

Len Elmore could be the key man for the Pacers in 1976-77. The club seems well set at the forward and guard positions. However, the center spot is a question mark—the Pacers hope Len Elmore is the answer.

Lenny moved in as the Pacer center the last third of his rookie season—once scoring 30 points in a playoff game against San Antonio.

Last season, he reported to camp much stronger and quicker than his rookie year, and immediately earned the starting center spot, was the Pacer second leading scorer and leading rebounder, averaging 14.6 points and 10.8 rebounds per game. Lenny also set a club record for most blocked shots in a season with 178.

Defensively, Lenny led the team in personal fouls, but was second on the club in steals—which shows his excellent quickness in the pivot. He must cut down on fouls and improve his field goal percentage—40% last season—to become a top notch NBA center. The potential is certainly there. Lenny is a streak shooter and in certain games has looked unstoppable. Consistency is the only real ingredient lacking. With two years of pro ball under his belt, Lenny could very well begin to show that consistency this season.

Len Elmore is a very intelligent and articulate young man. He was honored as Maryland's outstanding male student his senior year because of his excellence in both basketball and academics—a B plus average in Pre-Law.

Lenny is a bachelor who enjoys good books, art and music.

44 MIKE FLYNN

Position: Guard
Height: 6-3
Weight: 190
Born: July 31, 1953, Casa Blanca, French Morocco
High School: Jeffersonville (Indiana)
College: Kentucky '75
Residence: Jeffersonville
How Acquired: 6th round, 1975 draft
Pro Experience: 1 year

Mike Flynn thinks he was "just lucky" to be on the right team at the right time last season. The Pacers think they were "luckier" to get a player of Flynn's abilities on the 6th round of the '75 draft. The Pacers were in need of good, big guards, and Flynn has proven to be just what the doctor ordered.

Mike had a great pre-season in 1975, but a slow start once the regular season got underway. He finally moved into the Pacer starting backcourt during the latter stages of 1975-76, and did very well there. He played excellently during the playoffs and was the Pacers third leading scorer at 13.4—had 20 points in the final game against the Kentucky Colonels in Louisville.

Mike has deceptive speed and quickness—has good anticipation on defense and a knack of being where the ball is. Also, is a good rebounder for a guard. Offensively, he has good range, is a fine passer, and is learning to penetrate and then hit the open man.

A native of Indiana, Flynn was the state's "Mr. Basketball" his senior year in high school—crossed the Ohio River to play his college ball at the University of Kentucky, and starred on the Kentucky team that went to the NCAA Finals in 1975. However, he's back home now and the Pacers are very grateful that they were both "lucky" back in 1975.

How Acquired: Signed as Free Agent, Sept. 14, 1976
Pro Experience: 1 year

Many observers will not be surprised if Steve Green winds up as the Pacers other starting forward opposite Billy Knight. Steve fits perfectly into the Pacer system. He is a very rugged, aggressive player who really hits the boards and scraps on defense. Coach Leonard likes his attitude as much as his ability. He is a team player and the Pacers stress a team concept on both offense and defense. Not much of a one-on-one performer—Steve nevertheless has an excellent outside shot—he holds the Indiana University career record for the best field goal percentage—and, with the Pacers offense, they need a player who can hit that 15 to 20 foot baseline jumper consistently.

Steve was a first round draft choice of the Utah Stars and a second round choice of the Chicago Bulls in 1975. He signed with Utah, immediately earned a starting forward position, and was averaging 15 points and 7 rebounds per game when the Stars folded. St. Louis purchased Steve's contract, but a broken wrist prematurely ended his season.

A very popular player, Indiana University is only 50 miles from Indianapolis, many Hoosier fans are extremely pleased to have Steve in a Pacer uniform.

Steve is the proud new owner of a farm in Bloomfield, Indiana and will make his home there.

One of Steve's favorite pastimes is playing the guitar, and he and his wife Lana enjoy the outdoors and camping.

"Dr. Dunk" is one of the crowd favorites in Indianapolis. His nickname will give you some indication why—he has a great variety of exciting, crowd pleasing dunk shots. Besides that, he can play the game of basketball.

Early in his career, he was known as a defensive player but is becoming a more complete player year by year.

In 1975-76 he was the Pacers fifth leading scorer and third lead rebounder—averaging 13.4 points and 9.1 rebounds per game. He accomplished this despite missing 10 games and playing less than 100% healthy in several others due to a severely sprained ankle.

In the playoffs, he averaged 14.3 points, 2nd on the team, and 11.7 rebounds to lead the team in that category.

Darnell holds the team record with 10 blocked shots in one game and ranks in the top 10 in 7 of the 8 team career offensive categories.

Darnell was the leader of the Pacers in 1975-76, serving as team captain.

Darnell is one of the few players ever to be drafted three times—By the Pacers in round # 2 in 1971, by Golden State in round # 1 of '71, and by the U.S. Army. The Pacers are thankful they won out in the long run.

Darnell is an ardent racing fan and has a particular love for drag racing. He and his wife, Linda, have one son, D.D.

High School: Wolf H. S. (McGehee)
College: Albany State '69
Residence: Indianapolis
How Acquired: 1st round, Dispersal Draft of Former ABA players
Pro Experience: 7 years

Wil is beginning his first year with the Pacers, and the club couldn't be happier. It was a matter of "if you can't beat em, join em"—in this case, "if he keeps beating you, get him on your side." For 7 years, Wil had been a thorn in the Pacers side—he always seemed to play his best games against them. Now he'll have to find another team to beat up on.

Consistency is the name of the game for Wil. Never flashy, he just produces. His rookie season is the only one where he did not average in double figures—he always seems to be in that 12 to 14 points per game range. That's good enough in Coach Bob Leonard's book.

Defense is another strong suit. Wil will consistently draw the opponents high scoring forward, and he is a former member of the ABA All-Defensive team.

The Jones family and basketball go hand-in-hand. Six of the Jones boys are over 6'4" tall. Caldwell at 6'11" is the starting center for the Philadelphia 76ers, and Major at 6'10" was a 2nd round draft choice of the Portland Trailblazers this past spring.

Wil has a couple of other attributes which are important to any team. He has a super attitude and his sense of humor is perfect for any locker room. He promises to help keep the Pacers "loose" as well as providing the consistent forward play the club needs.

Wil has a number of outside interests. Rumor has it, never challenge him to a game of pool or ping pong. He and his wife, Demerrits, have a daughter, Erika, 3.

Born: June 9, 1952, Pittsburgh, Pa.
High School: Braddock H. S.
College: Pittsburgh '74
Residence: Pittsburgh
How Acquired: 1st Round 1974 Draft
Pro Experience: 2 years

Billy Knight is the Pacers main man. It's not too hard to see why.

Billy is beginning his third pro season. As a rookie in 1974-75, he became only the second rookie ever to consistently start for the Pacers—the other was a fellow named George McGinnis. That season he averaged 17.3 points per game and 24.1 in the Playoffs.

That was a good indication of things to come as in '75-76, the man they call "Smooth" averaged 28.1 points per game to lead the club and finish second in the entire league. A deceptively strong rebounder, he averaged 10.1 rebounds per game to rank second on the club.

In the playoffs, Billy was even more incredible. He played 47.7 minutes per game, scored at 33.7 per game and averaged 10.7 rebounds.

At the conclusion of the season, he was named to the All-ABA First team—an honor which ranked him as the second best forward in the league, behind only the incomparable Julius Erving.

Billy has an excellent outside jump shot, plus an amazing assortment of moves to the basket—it seems like he can hang in the air almost endlessly. He is super at scoring the big basket or drawing that crucial foul. When the Pacers are in the last couple of minutes of a tight game, keep your eyes on Billy Knight—that's where the action will be.

Billy comes from a family of eleven, and has a brother who plays for Pittsburgh. He's an amazing young man who does not smoke or drink, and is a bachelor with a love for movies and good music.

How Acquired: Signed as Free Agent
Pro Experience: 10 Years

Freddie is another former Pacer who has "come home" for the Pacers first NBA season. After one year with the Cincinnati Royals, Freddie spent 7 great seasons with the Pacers. He was the Captain of the club and led the Pacers to 3 ABA Championships.

Freddie ranks in the Top 10 in all Pacer career offensive categories:

640 games played—3rd; 22,730 minutes—2nd

2,655 assists—1st; 2,574 rebounds—6th

10,812 points—3rd; 16.9 scoring average—6th

His career highs show games of 43 points, 13 rebounds and 16 assists in the regular season, and 35 points, 12 rebounds and 13 assists in the playoffs.

"Fritz" is great at directing the Pacer offense. He is a very intelligent player who adds a great deal of stability to the Pacer backcourt with his 10 years of pro experience. On top of that, there are not too many players around any better at scoring that big clutch basket.

Freddie has performed in 3 ABA All-Star games and was the MVP of the '74-75 game in which he scored 26 points.

Freddie and his wife Inez have a daughter, Shari, and a son, Benji.

Born: December 22, 1949, Cincinnati, Ohio
High School: Springfield, Springfield, Ill.
College: Kansas '71
Residence: Indianapolis
How Acquired: in San Diego Sails (ABA) Dispersal Draft
Pro Experience: 5 years

Dave Robisch is proving to be another very consistent performer for the Pacers. "Robo" is also coming off an excellent '75-76 season. He was the Pacers' fourth leading scorer averaging 13.4 points and 8.8 rebounds per game.

Due to injuries to the Pacers' frontcourt, Dave played mostly at forward last season. However, during the playoffs, he stepped into the pivot and did an outstanding job against Artis Gilmore. Based on this performance, the Pacers are planning to use him almost exclusively at center this year.

Dave has an excellent outside shot for a big man, and is especially deadly from around the 15-foot range. He will definitely keep the opposing centers honest with his jump shot. Also an excellent free throw shooter—84% in '75-76.

Robo is glad to finally have a secure home in Indianapolis. Last season he was on the roster of five different ABA teams—Denver, Baltimore, St. Louis, San Diego and Indiana—all in a period of about two months. That has to be some sort of undesired record.

At 6'10" and 240 pounds, Dave is big enough to battle most of the NBA's bigger centers, yet active enough to fit into the mold of the more mobile pivot men.

Dave is an excellent tennis player.

He and his wife Lou have two children—Stacey, age 4½, and Brett 1½.

High School: H. S. Chadsey H. S. (Detroit)
College: Central Michigan '75
Residence: Indianapolis
How Acquired: 1st round 1975 Draft
Pro Experience: 1 year

Dan Roundfield could become the most exciting player on the Pacer roster. Very few players anywhere possess the raw ability he does. An amazing physical specimen, Dan at 6'8" and 205 pounds has a vertical jump of 11'3" and can get up and down the floor on the fast break faster than many guards.

A number one draft choice, Dan got off to a slow start in '75-76, but really began to come-on toward the end of the season—especially in the playoffs. Averaging 5.1 points per game during the season, Dan moved into the pivot against Artis Gilmore in the playoffs and in only about 13 minutes per game, averaged 11 points, 5 rebounds and shot 58% from the floor.

Dan's potential can best be shown in one game last season against Denver. Playing against the veteran Dan Issel, he had 29 points, 14 rebounds and blocked two shots against David Thompson—one of those a Thompson slam-dunk attempt.

In college, Dan was the main man on the Central Michigan team which went to the NCAA mid-East Regional where he blocked 9 shots against Kentucky—he was the Co-MVP of the Regional along with Indiana's Kent Benson.

Dan is married, and he and his wife Bernie are the proud parents of young Corey Roundfield. Bicycling is one of the Roundfield's favorite pastimes.

Always known as an excellent defensive player, Darrell's outside shooting was one of the most pleasant surprises of training camp.

A 4th round draft choice in the 1974 ABA draft, he played one season for Virginia, but a wrist injury kept him out all last year. Darrell is a bachelor who enjoys golfing.

"K.J" returns to the Pacer line-up after a one year absence.

The former All-American at South Carolina was a # 1 draft pick of Golden State and # 2 selection of San Antonio in the 1973 draft. The Pacers acquired his rights from the Spurs, and Kevin performed for the Pacers in '73-74 and '74-75. In '74-75, he was a starter and averaged 14.9 ppg. for the Pacer team that went all the way to the ABA Finals.

A big, strong guard, Kevin adds some needed firepower to the Pacer backcourt.

"K.J." is another of the Pacer bachelors.
